

Planning

Key structures

Asking someone what their plans are:

What are you doing tomorrow?
What are your plans for holiday?
Have you got anything planned for tomorrow?

Speaking to someone about your projects:

We're going to visit my parents in Arizona.
I'm think of taking up swimming.
We're considering moving to the country.
I'm planning to go on holiday soon.
I intend to revise for my exams this weekend.

And now a dialogue

Are You Planning to Resign?

Worker 1: I'm seeing the boss in 10 minutes.

Worker 2: What for? Are you planning to resign?

Worker 1: On the contrary. There's a new job going. My aim is to get it, so I intend to show her I'm by far the best person for the new job. Which should be difficult really.

We're Going to Visit My Mother

Woman: You remember we're going to visit my mother in Belfast for the holiday?

Man: Are we? I thought you intended to spend the summer our cousins in southern Spain.

Woman: Yes, I'm planning to get a flight from Belfast to Malia. Everything has been arranged. Don't worry, but we have to see my mother first. She's thinking of trying new recipes. We'll be spoiled. My brother is offering to fetch us from the airport, so everything should go smoothly. Is it ok with you?
