And now a dialogue

Man: They come in all shapes and sizes.

Woman: You told me the colors wouldn't run but look some of the color of the shirt has run onto the socks.

Man: I didn't sleep well. The walls in my room are paper thin.

Woman: As you know, it's just the tip of the iceberg.

Man: Their country won three gold medals and six silver and eleven bronze.

Woman: Tom has bought a dark green suit and a light red shirt. He's colorblind.
