

LEVEL 1

What is your job ?

Sarah : Wentworth, what is your job ? I mean what do you do?

Wentworth: What do I do? I am a teacher. I teach children in middle school. I don't work in kindergartens.

Sarah: What do you do exactly?

Wentworth: I teach them English. First, I need to prepare the lessons. I write down some ideas related to the theme I want to teach. For example, if I teach about food, I refer to the meals we have during the day, but also the meat, the vegetables, fruit or drinks that exist.

Sarah: It sounds easy!

Wentworth: Sounds easy? Maybe... But it takes time! Especially, if it's for a special occasion like Christmas or Valentine's Day...

Sarah: Valentine's Day?

Wentworth: The children draw a card and cut it. Then, they write a poem. How about you? What is your job, Sarah? What do you do?

Sarah: I'm a waitress at a restaurant. I deal with clients. Sometimes, they are nice. Sometimes, they are unpleasant. It is hard but it pays well. I get tips from happy clients, or I get bad comments from bad or furious ones.

mean	Like
What do you do?	Christmas= Xmas
teach	Valentine's Day
Middle school	Children
kindergarten	Draw a card
do	cut
first	then
Need (to do)	Write
Write down	A poem
Want (to do)	How about you?
Related to	A waitress
theme	Deal with
For example	sometimes
about	Nice
food	unpleasant
Refer to	hard
meal	pay
But	well
Also	get
meat	A tip
vegetables	from
drinks	happy
It sounds easy	Bad
maybe	A comment
Take time	furious
especially	Ones
for

I/ In English, people use 'a' or 'an' for one. Example: I have a cat (people do not say 'I have one cat')

II/ In general, the plural form ends with -s. Example: a cat – two cats.

III/ If the word ends in -ch/-s/-x/-y, the plural form is -es:

Singular	Plural
A sandwich	sandwiches
A kiss	kisses
A box	boxes
A baby	babies

IV/If the word ends in a vowel+ y, we only add -s: a boy – two boys/

A key – two keys/

V/ there are exceptions:

Singular	Plural
	in -en
A man	Men
A woman	Women
A child	Children
	In -ee
A tooth	Teeth
A foot	Feet
	In -ves
A life	lives
A knife	Knives
A thief	thieves
A leaf	leaves
A shelf	Shelves
A wife	wives
	Other plural forms
A person	people
A mouse	mice
A penny	pence

VI/ If the word ends in -is, it changes in -es at the plural form:

Singular	Plural
analysis	analyses
basis	bases
crisis	crises

VII / There are nouns in English that are the same in the singular and the plural forms:

Singular	Plural
fish	fish
sheep	sheep
deer	deer
moose	moose
aircraft	aircraft

JOBS

A journalist	writes articles for a newspaper
A mechanic	repairs cars and trucks
An aupair	looks after children
A chef	cooks in a restaurant
An eyedoctor	tests people's eyes
A waiter	serves food in a restaurant
A greengrocer	sells fruit and vegetables

Work (Le travail)

accountant	mason
actor / actress	mechanic
architect	model
author	musician
baker	nurse
bookseller	officer
businessman	ophthalmologist
butcher	optician
civil servant	painter
computer programmer	pediatrician
cook	pharmacist
customer	photographer
dentist	plumber
doctor	policeman
electrician	postman
employee	priest
engineer	professor
factory worker	publisher
firefighter	salesman
fisherman	scientist
flight attendant	secretary
gardener	shoemaker
grocer	singer
hair stylist	soldier
jeweler	student
journalist	surgeon
judge	tailor
lawyer	teacher
librarian	waiter / waitress