

EL 01

Some / Any

ANY PLANS FOR THE WEEKEND?

Wentworth: Sarah, do you have any plans for the weekend?

Sarah: Not yet. Maybe I'll go to the cinema. Or I will go with a friend to some other place.

Wentworth: Like a museum?

Sarah: My friend is staying here for the weekend. Apparently, our local museum is a must-see. But he is afraid he won't have any time for that... So I'm not sure...

Wentworth: Why are you not sure?

Sarah: Well, he is only here for the weekend. People wait in line for one or two hours to come into the museum. And the visit lasts approximately 3 hours.

Wentworth: You are right but it is a must-see! Maybe, you could go picnic by the river after. On the riverbanks, there are beautiful benches. Besides, it is sunny and warm these days. You will enjoy it. And nearby there's a park, you could play some ball games as well Sarah: That's right! I think we'll do that! He really likes outdoor activities when abroad. Thanks for your recommendation, Wentworth.

Wentworth: You're welcome. As a foreigner myself, I assure you she will love it! Have a nice day, Sarah!

Sarah: Have a nice day!

ANY PLANS FOR THE WEEKEND?	'you are right'
	To go picnic
	By the river
Not yet	A riverbank
maybe	A bench
other	besides
A place	Sunny and warm
like	'these days'
A museum	To enjoy
A friend	nearby
To stay	A park
here	could
apparently	A ball game
A must-see	As well
but	outdoor
To be afraid	abroad
so	recommendation
Why	'you're' welcome '
only	As a ...
To wait	A foreigner
A line	myself
To come in	To assure
To last	To love
approximately	Have a nice day !

Grammar: SOME/ANY

1/ SOME

In English, we use 'some ' in positive statements to indicate the existence of a thing (uncountable noun: noun always in the singular form) or different elements (countable nouns have a plural form).

We use some when the quantity exist or we do not want to be exact about the number.

Example: I see some clouds

I drink some tea

HYPNOLANGUE
Learn english faster & easier

2/ ANY

a) ANY in questions:

we use ANY in questions to ask about the existence of an element, singular or plural.

We use any when we do not know the answer.

Example:

Is there any milk in the fridge?

Do you have any questions ?

ANY in negative statements :

We use ANY when the element does not exist, and the verb has the negative form(DO NOT or DOES NOT for the present tense).

Example: I see no cars= I DO NOT see ANY cars

I have no time= I DO NOT have ANY time