Concession

Sarah: Oh, not again! It's disgraceful. I really don't think they should be allowed to interrupt films like that. I think advertising should be banned on television.

W: Isn't that going a bit far? I'll admit that it may annoy people sometimes, but to ban altogether... We have a lot of advertising on TV in Canada; I guess I'm used to it.

Sarah: Yes, I suppose it's true that there would be practical difficulties to ban it, but you do see my point, don't you? It's not just unpleasant, it's insulting.

W: All right, I'll grant you that, just for the sake of the argument, but all the same! The money's got to come from somewhere, however much you'd prefer to think otherwise.

Sarah: oh, it's all very well to say that, but I still think they go too far. All right, we'll have to allow advertising, but let's not exaggerate.

W: Yes, that's fair enough. I'll go along with you that far. We'll have to put up with it to a certain extent, but they shouldn't be allowed to spoil the programmes. We can't avoid it, so we'll just have to try and make the best of it.

Sarah: Well I guess I must resign myself. Let's meet you half way to save face...
