Environmental awareness

Sarah: my boyfriend and I are working on an environmental policy as you sensitized us to the problem. I thought you could help us?

W: Of course Wentworth! To go green is a great initiative!

Sarah: How would you raise awareness about environmental impact?

W: Well, I think the Greens, an environmental group could bring us some tools.

Sarah: Yes, I've seen an awareness campaign on green issues mobilizing public opinion on ecology.

W: as far as we're concerned, we could begin with environmental friendly best practices.

Sarah: why not? The problem is that to the large majority of the world's population, environmental protection matters less than food, accommodation and employment...

W: I know. That's why I do think if we are to protect the environment on a global scale, we must do our part, collectively as well as individually.

Sarah: That's true. Unless we change our ways, the world faces disaster.

W: So, shall we start writing this policy?
