Beauty care

W: Tell me Sarah, would you know a good beautician in the neighbourhood?

Sarah: For you?

W: No! It's for my wife; she's been looking for a beauty parlour for weeks without any success.

Sarah: Oh dear! I know the feeling... Actually I can recommend my own beautician. She doesn't have a shop but comes to your place.

W: That's perfect! Where can I reach her?

Sarah: I'll give you her number. Did your wife tell you the kind of treatments she needs?

W: Actually yes, I have a list of questions.

Sarah: ok, go ahead then.

W: So, my wife has a very sensitive skin and she wondered if the beautician used some special cosmetics and make-up.

Sarah: Yes she does, actually she also works with organic and ecologic cosmetics products.

W: Good news! Then she wanted to know the price for a facial with an exfoliation and moisturizing, to pluck her eyebrows, and some more detailed questions that I forgot.

Sarah: all right, I have a price list with me, so the best is that I call your wife directly and introduce her to Valerie, my beautician.

W: very good idea, because I'm not really a specialist and always confuse between a beauty lotion, a cleansing milk, a night cream or a foundation cream! Thanks very much Sarah!

Sarah: you're very welcome Wentworth.
